Collections Better, Treasurer Reports

Not So Much Arrears, But Not So Much To Collect

Tax collections this year are better than last year, N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk, solicitor and treasurer of the town, reported to the council on Tuesday evening.

Although the levy this year is $16,500 less than last year, collections to June 15 were $57,547, compared with $60,408 last year.

Arrears collections were not as heavy this year as last year, Mr. Mathews reported. "One good reason is that there were not so many in arrears at the beginning of this year," he said.

Arrears and penalties collected so far this year, compared with last year, are: 1938, arrears, $11,072, penalties, $1,333; 1937, arrears, $16,767, penalties, $2,324.

TEACHER PREACHES

Preaching two eloquent and thought-provoking sermons, Robert Dick, member of Newmarket high school staff, occupied the pulpit of the Christian-Congregational church on Sunday.

ATTENDS U. S. CONVENTION

Rev. Dr. W. S. Alexander and Mrs. Alexander are attending the convention of Christian-Congregational churches in Wisconsin this week. They are accompanied by Mrs. Frank Adams.

FAMOUS CHOIR IS SINGING SATURDAY

A rare opportunity is being given to music lovers of this district, with the coming of the Mendelssohn choir to the Aurora arena on Saturday evening at 9 p.m., daylight saving time.

Admittedly one of the finest choirs on this continent, this magnificent group of 300 voices has attracted many from the largest American cities, who have travelled long distances to hear them. As there is only a nominal charge for this splendid concert, it is urged that the audience be on hand early. A grant from the proceeds will be made to the Aurora Boys' band for the purpose of building a bandstand.

N. H. S. Promotions And Results

The papers of the examinations recently written at Newmarket high school in the commercial department and in Forms I and II have been marked, and the names of the successful candidates are given below. A subject in brackets after the candidate's name indicates that he has not been granted standing in that subject.

Commercial Department
Diplomas granted to students of 4C: Grade A: Marjorie Stickwood (bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute); Grade B: Charles Fray (bronze medal in typing); Ruby Heard (bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute); Royden Connell; pass diploma: Irene Armstrong, Florence Tucker (bronze medal in typing); Bruce Cowleson, Ena Forster.

Diplomas granted to students of 2C: Grade A: Beatrice Rothwell (silver medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute); Grade B: Doreen Bell (if she secures standing in M. S. English), bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute; Grace Gee (bronze medal in typing); Bruce Ingledew (silver medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute); Agnes Lunn (bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute); Frances Ross (if she secures standing in M. S. English), silver medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute; Doris Willis (bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute).

Pass diploma: Fernie Doane (if she secures standing in M. S. English), Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute; William McGenty (if he secures standing in M. S. Eng. Lit.), Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute; Margaret Shea (if she secures standing in M. S. English), Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute; Joseph Tunney (if he secures standing in M. S. Eng. Comp.), bronze medal in typing and Pitman shorthand medal for 80 words per minute.

REFLECTS HONOR ON SCHOOL

Four years ago Nora Penrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Penrose, Newmarket, graduated from Newmarket high school with ten firsts and one second. Now she has graduated from the University of Toronto with honors in modern languages, reflecting great credit on herself and her school. Next year she attends O.C.E. to prepare herself for the teaching profession. Photo by courtesy of Freeland, Toronto.

Heat Wave End Of May Sends Power Bill To Roof

Claim Of Office Specialty Allowed To Stand Pending Inquiry

The town's hydro-electric bill took a jump last month, amounting to $3,606.
"I can explain that," said C. C. Rachar, town electrical engineer, at the town council meeting Tuesday evening. "The peak occurred on the last day in May. It was a hot day. Ranges were allowed to go out and the people used hot-plates and hot-water heaters."

"The peak has gone steadily down this month since we sent out letters asking householders to turn off their heaters at the peak hour around noon."

On the request of Councillor Wm. Dixon, the clerk was asked to acknowledge letters received from the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co. concerning their claim for a $4,500 rebate on their light bill.

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd said that he was not satisfied to discuss the matter with the company until he had further confirmation of the facts. The town will ask the Hydro-Electric and the Sangamo Electric, which supplies the town with meters, to read the meter.

INVESTS LEADERS

Edgar Jones, field-secretary of the Boy Scout organization, was present recently at a regular troop meeting of the Christian church group. He invested, in proper form, the scoutmaster, Frank Hope, and the assistant scoutmaster, Ted Blenco. He commented favorably on the progress of the troop.

Mr. Rachar said he would be glad to have his findings checked by outsiders.

"When we are going to here from Mr. Rachar?" asked Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale at one point. "I understand that there are other meters that were being read wrong."

"I thought we would have a special meeting to hear a report from Mr. Rachar," said Councillor Wm. Dixon, chairman of the water and light committee. "Before we meet the Specialty we should decide on policy," said Councillor Arthur Evans. "If we decided that all firms were to be treated alike, the confidence of the man on the street would be restored."

Old Elm Still To Rule

The old elm tree, in the middle of Timothy St., is to be pruned, the council decided on Tuesday evening, after hearing a report from Councillor Arthur Evans.

Mr. Evans had an offer from a tree surgeon to do the job for $27. Mr. Osborne thought local men could do the job, but it was decided to have an expert do it. "What is the sentiment about that tree?" asked Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"That tree ought to be taken out of there," said Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

"I would object to it being removed," said Councillor W. W. Osborne.

"It's an old landmark," said Councillor Frank Robinson.

"I was told that it is the place where the Indians used to trade," said Councillor A. V. Higginson.

"It's a nice story anyway," commented Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

"When the pavement was built, when Howard Cane was mayor, I favored cutting the tree down," Mr. Osborne later told The Era. "But now the pavement is built, and the tree looks all right. I would leave it as a landmark."

Alex. Pringle, formerly of New Paramount Studios, Toronto, is now on the staff of Budd Studio, Newmarket.

MILK REPORTED AS SATISFACTORY

Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., made the following statement this week: "The latest report from the department of health of Ontario states that the bacteria count of the iced samples of milk sent in by the town inspector is quite within normal limits and the butter-fat test runs from 3.5 per cent to 3.85 per cent."

"The new pasteurization test shows that all samples of milk had been properly pasteurized."

Dr. Wesley said that the statutory minimum of butter-fat is 3.25, and that the local dairies are giving substantially better milk than legally required. The provincial department of health is using a new process to test pasteurization, Dr. Wesley said. There was formerly no way of testing pasteurization effectively.

SERVICE CLUB WORK PRAISED

Installation of President Alex. Eves and other officers of the Newmarket Lions club was carried out at the annual charter and ladies' night, held on Monday evening at Big Bay Point near Barrie.

International Director Reid Murdoch, Toronto, and Deputy-District Governor Arthur Fugh, Barrie, praised the Newmarket club for its work and spoke of the growth of the club in eight years.

W. L. Bosworth, retiring president, presided over the dinner meeting.

His year as president had meant a great deal to him, he said. "I think we have had one of the biggest years in the history of the club," he said. "If we have not done as much children's work, it is because we are getting the work cleaned up."

Before too long, he said, he hoped to see his "baby," the Lions club park, completed. "We have acquired the land for a park that Newmarket has been wanting for 35 years," Mr. Bosworth said.

Among those sitting at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Eves, Mr. and Mrs. Reid Murdoch, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hayes, Port Perry, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rutherford, Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lambert, Newmarket, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pugh, Barrie, Dr. and Mrs. Rennie, Port Perry.

Eugene Doyle proposed a toast to the ladies and Mrs. Bosworth, Alex. Eves, expressed briefly his appreciation for the confidence placed in him by the club.

Miss Gwen Lambert's beautiful soprano voice was heard in two numbers. She was accompanied by her father, H. E. Lambert.

Bill White, at the piano, and "Bus" Halsey, Aurora, with the accordion, provided music. Dancing was enjoyed following the dinner.

CITIZENS ENJOY BAND CONCERT

Five or six hundred people enjoyed a delightful program of music given by the Citizens' band at Memorial Park on Sunday evening after church.

Expressions of admiration were heard not only for the quality of music, but also for the smart appearance and conduct of the band. Bandmaster Robert Moore was in charge.

Leadership Shown By North York Schools

Here are shown three of the teachers responsible for the exhibit, snapped outside the church after the interesting exhibition. From left to right appear Miss G. L. Waite, Mrs. A. Greig and Miss Christina Ardill.

School Work Exhibition At Queensville Draws Public

Northern York county is well advanced in interpreting and applying the new course of study, according to Inspector R. H. Roberts, who was well supported by an exhibition of pupils' work from four schools at Queensville United church on Monday afternoon.

The work, a project on the subject of communications, was from the classrooms of Mrs. A. Greig and Miss F. Cooke, at Queensville public school, and from the nearby rural schools of Miss Christina Ardill and Miss G. L. Waite, and the school of Miss Audrey Pearson, Sharon. Miss Ardill was chairman of the group.

The children have been learning by doing. They have been building all sorts of objects, to illustrate methods of communication, modern and ancient.

There were such different objects as a "Railway Crossing" sign, a traffic policeman, horse-drawn vehicles, an office buzzer, a reproduction of the Davis Leather factory (the whistle calling men to work being the point illustrated), a street-car, boats, a model of the first German printing-press (which actually prints), and many other works of art and ingenuity.

PLAN SUNSET SERVICE

The United, Friends and Christian young people are meeting at the Christian church on Monday at 6.15 p.m. for a supper and sunset service to be held at Sterling's bush, or at one of the churches in case of rain.

Stevens, of the Bell Telephone Co., an interesting series of slides on the history of communications was thrown on the screen. Murray Huntley operated the lantern and Miss Lorna Pearson, recently appointed to the Newmarket high school staff, read an explanatory lecture. Rev. F. W. Madden acted as chairman.

Inspector R. H. Roberts was present. Principal H. A. Jackson, several members of his staff, and a number of teachers from district schools visited the exhibition. A number of parents too attended. The Queensville exhibition, together with exhibits of work done at Newmarket and district schools, will be put on exhibition at Northern Vocational school, Toronto, and later at the C.N.E.

It is believed that this district is second to no other inspectorate in the province in carrying out the new course of study, which is designed to teach children to do for themselves.

Similar projects have been carried out in the Newmarket schools, with a great deal of enthusiasm aroused in the pupils.

Says Lieutenant-Governor Holds Liquorless Parties

Toronto Woman Addresses Queensville W. A. On Temperance

"As Christians, we should not own liquor stocks," said Mrs. F. W. Stephens of Toronto, temperance secretary of the centre presbytery of the Women's Association of the United church, in addressing the Queensville W.A. "I heard of two church-going women (members of the W.A.) who boasted of buying their beautiful new fur coats with money from their liquor stocks."

"The liquor people spend millions a year in advertising," Mrs. Stephens said. "They know well the old slogan, 'It pays to advertise,' is true. Sir Edgar Saunders, in addressing the British Brewers, made the statement: 'We want to get the beer-drinking habit instilled into thousands, almost millions of our young men who do not at present know the taste of beer.' What a tragic situation! I heard of one firm who gives away sweaters, another gives away cocktail receptacles for advertising; all to get the poor man's money."

"At the Ontario Temperance Federation convention held in Toronto a few weeks ago, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president of the Local Council of Women, in her address, drew our attention to the fact that there have been fewer cocktail parties among the so-called 'social set' this season, and suggested that our new lieutenant-governor, Hon. and Mrs. Mathews, who have their parties without liquor, and are a Christian family, are no doubt having an influence for good."

ST. JOHN'S R.C. CHURCH GARDEN PARTY PLANNED

Wednesday, July 20, is the date decided upon for St. John's annual garden party and carnival. The different committees are arranging a varied program for this big annual event.

HEAT STRIKES TOWN

A heat wave struck Newmarket this week. At noon today the thermometer on Main St. was 84. Thermometers outside Wainman's and McCauley's registered 90 degrees in the shade on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. When the sun struck Patterson's thermometer, it jumped to 114.

"WATCH US TO-NIGHT"

Newmarket softballers had a bad weekend in softball, dropping a 12-5 decision to Tip Top Tailors on Friday evening of last week and also losing to Big Four Cleaners on Monday evening to the tune of 10-4. The losses were attributed to the sloppy playing of the Reds, plus a little slackness on the part of some of the players by not taking the games seriously enough.

Schomberg Reverse Decision At Home

Minus their regular outfielders and plus numerous errors, the Newmarket Redmen lost to Schomberg, a team they had previously trounced, to the tune of 17-11 at Schomberg on Tuesday night.

Schomberg receive full credit for their display, but the Redmen were certainly miles off form and gave a very poor exhibition of ball.

Newmarket used all three pitchers but the home-towners seemed to be able to conk any of them at random. The loss, however, cannot be attributed to the pitchers, as it was the numerous errors in the field that paved the way for Schomberg's decisive win.

The Redmen as a whole have been in a very bad slump for the past week and hope to redeem themselves tonight when Schomberg come to town for their second appearance this season.

Whoop Cough And Measles In Town, M.O.H. Asks Help

No Use Writing Him Anonymous Letters, Declares Dr. Wesley

The town has been remarkably free from all communicable diseases during the winter and spring months, the time when we usually have one or more epidemics, and it is only during the last few weeks that a number of cases of whooping cough have developed," said Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., this week.

"This is a communicable disease and the householder is under the responsibility of notifying the M.O.H. of all cases of whooping cough, the children must remain isolated and the house placarded," Dr. Wesley said. "If your neighbor's children have any communicable disease that has not been reported or when the occupants of the house are exposing others to the danger of contracting any such contagious disease, kindly remember an anonymous letter to the health officer will not receive any notice. Any signed information will be held as confidential, and you need not be afraid of getting in wrong with your neighbors, by trying to protect the health of the people."

Why Tear Up Our Fathers' Philosophy, Asks Bogart

Cemetery Beautiful For Decoration Day, Both Bands Participate

The annual decoration day at Newmarket cemetery was held on Sunday. There were a large number present, and almost every grave in the cemetery was beautifully decorated with flowers. Newmarket Citizens' band and the R. S. A. bugle band were in attendance.

W. L. Bosworth, president of the Newmarket Cemetery Co., spoke briefly and introduced Rev. Burton Hill, pastor of the Friends church, who offered prayer. The Citizens' band played several selections during the early part of the service.

Mr. Bosworth introduced Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, who on behalf of the town of Newmarket, welcomed the visitors.

Mr. Bosworth said that there were 4,401 burials in Newmarket cemetery recorded on Jan. 1, 1938. He also encouraged lot-owners to attend the annual company meeting and assist the board of directors with suggestions for the betterment of the company and cemetery.

"The veterans and the Citizens' band then marched to the grave of a veteran, where Rev. Mr. Hill spoke briefly. The band played 'Abide with me,' followed by 'The Last Post,' sounded by Jack Arlitt.

Mr. Bosworth then introduced the guest speaker, Ernest Bogart, K.C., prominent Toronto lawyer, and alderman, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Bogart, Newmarket.

"We are taught of the comradeship of life," Mr. Bogart said. "This great city of the dead are not strangers to us. These people here are living with us always. They are our comrades along the highways and byways of life. How fortunate are we in this comradeship of life."

"These monuments reveal experiences. These men lived hard

COUNCILLOR IS ILL

George Williams, a member of the town council, has been ill at home for some time.

PRESS WILL BE INVITED

Suitable desks or tables will be provided for teaching art at the high school, in accordance with the recommendation of the high school inspector, A. J. Husband, it was decided at a board meeting on Tuesday evening.

Chairman George D. Wark presided at the meeting, called to pass accounts for payment. Others present were: P. W. Pearson, G. A. Blinn, W. J. Patterson, W. J. Geer, A. N. Belugin, Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle, J. B. Bastedo, principal of the high school, and Allan Mills, secretary of the board.

Andrew Hebb, editor of The Era, asked that the town newspapers be informed of the meetings and that facilities be provided for reporting the meetings. Members of the board readily acceded to this request.

lives. They built up a philosophy. Are we going to tear up this philosophy they built for us?"

The speaker said that these men were calling from their graves for us to be steady and face the troubled conditions of the world of today with courage.

"Let them sleep," he said. "They gave the torch to us. Let us bear it high. These men built better than they knew. They built more wisely than they knew. Let us therefore set to labor, take new courage, build a new and powerful edifice."

The service closed with a selection by the band, "God be with you till we meet again," followed by prayer by Rev. Burton Hill.

THURSDAY, JUNE 23RD, 1938

DR. BOYD'S SUGGESTIONS

Mayor Boyd's letter on the town's hydro-electric plant deserves study. Dr. Boyd makes three points: borrow $25,000, to improve the system and stop line losses, estimated at 25 per cent; carry on the work under the supervision of the Ontario Hydro, to avoid unnecessary additional expense when Newmarket becomes a Hydro municipality; and increase domestic rates.

Hydro Supervision

One point on which there seems general agreement is the present unsatisfactory condition of the plant, and the necessity of doing something about it. There does seem to be difference of opinion about Dr. Boyd's second point, that the work should be carried out under the supervision of Hydro. All of us naturally rebel at taking orders from outsiders, but that is what we will have to do in 1945. We must remember that this is an age of commissions, with large authority, and that these commissions are set up with the greatest good to the greatest number in view. We don't have to take advice from the Hydro now, but if we do we may save ourselves a lot of money and a lot of worry in the long run.

Rate Increase

There is likely to be less agreement about Dr. Boyd's third point, which calls for an increase in domestic rates. This increase would affect consumers whose bills run to over $1.50 a month, that is, use over 75 kilowatt hours. The present rate for electricity used over this figure is one-half cent. Dr. Boyd states that this is below cost and recommends that it be increased to three-quarter cents. A bill of $1.50 would still be a bill of $1.50. A bill of $2 would be $2.25; a bill of $4 would become $5.25. A bill of $7.50 would be $10.50.

What Is Cost?

As suggested by Dr. Boyd, the key to the whole problem is the "cost." This is almost impossible to determine, because the town pays for its power according to the highest peak of consumption in a whole month. Suppose that the town is selling below cost to all users who at the peak time are using power at one-half cent. On the other hand, a few hours later the town will be making money handsomely in selling power at one-half cent. Whether it will recoup its losses is another question. It would be making money, in the same sense, to sell off-peak power at a quarter of a cent. In other words, the cost of the power to the town is determined by the peak and the more off-peak power the town can sell the better. However, it is reasonable to assume that all domestic users with stoves are contributing to the peak demand, which occurs, at this time of the year, around noon. That is what Dr. Boyd means when he states that the town is selling power below cost. At the time of the peak these people are getting their power below cost, yet at all other hours of that peak day and at all hours on the other 30 days of the month these people are helping the town by using as much half-cent electricity as they can.

A Possibility

For instance, it is conceivable that the town might establish profitably a fourth bracket for the sale of domestic power at a quarter cent. Suppose that Mrs. Average Householder has her stove on at noon every day. One of those noons during the month is going to be the peak. Suppose that she lights her house at a cost of $1.50 a month (25 KWH at three cents and 50 KWH at one and a half cents). Suppose she cooks three meals at a further cost of $1.50 (300 KWH at one-half cent). Perhaps her use of electricity stops right there. To increase her third rate to three-quarter cents would put her bill up to $3.75, assuming that she was unable to cut down her consumption. If she should decide to serve cold meals at breakfast time and supper time, which is unlikely, she might keep her bill down to the former $3. Or she might decide to use a coal stove entirely, and while her contribution to the noon peak would be removed, the town would lose her breakfast and supper time off-peak power consumption.

Just Conjecture

Now suppose that she is using her stove three times a day, and that her total bill is $3 a month. She is already contributing to the noon peak, with her stove going full-blast for a noon-day dinner. The town is selling her 375 KWH for $3, less than a cent a KWH. Her principal use of power is at noon, and, if the town is operating its electric plant unprofitably, it may be that she is an unprofitable customer. But the town might feel that she could be made into a profitable customer if she could be induced to use enough off-peak power. She is already using just about as much peak power as she can. So the town offers to sell her anything over 375 KWH at one-quarter cent. She is encouraged to use her stove for baking during the morning and the afternoon. She may even allow the children to use the stove of an evening to make candy. She may install a hot-water heater, which would probably be principally in use during off-peak hours. She may light the house a little more freely in the evenings. She may buy an electric heater for use on a chilly evening. Perhaps she will buy an electric washer, an electric refrigerator or an electric cleaner. In the course of two or three years, another 600 KWH, without putting any extra load on the peak, and the town receives an additional $1.50 revenue. Perhaps she may now be considered a profitable customer. Against this, the town would lose revenue from those customers who are already using an additional 600 KWH at a cost of $3, and who now would pay only $1.50. It would be interesting to have a statement showing how many consumers use 25 KWH, how many 75 KWH, how many 100, how many 200, how many 300, how many 400, etc. Without such an analysis it would be difficult to predict the effect of an increase or decrease in rates.

Not Groceries

Perhaps laymen shouldn't be writing about such subjects but we do so to illustrate the difficulties and many factors involved. The capital and maintenance cost is much the same no matter how much power consumers use, and the power cost depends on the peak, no matter how closely consumers approach the peak at other times. The problem is not as simple as that of the grocer or dry goods merchant who, with a difficult enough problem, knows what the article cost him, must add sufficient to take care of his profit and sufficient to take care of his overhead, this last depending on his estimated volume of sales. It is as though the cost of his merchandise depended on the volume of his Saturday night sales. What is his selling price?

A VISIT TO INDIANA

(Contributed by Leonard Harman, King)

Columbus is a lovely city worthy of the fine farm country which surrounds it. Some parts of the state are quite mountainous with great coal deposits. But much is farm land where a three-year rotation of corn, wheat and clover seems to hold sway. After the corn is stocked in rows the long growing season makes it possible to plow or cultivate the corn stubble land for fall wheat. Sometimes the row of stooks about six feet wide is left clear across the field. In other cases all is tilled except the ground where the stooks stand. In the following spring these strips are sown with oats or barley. I thought this strip or patch business quite spoiled the appearance of a field of waving wheat but an Ohioan suggests that the dappled effect lends beauty. Perhaps it does, but I still can't see it.

The little of oats and barley that is grown seems rather sickly beside the wheat. A lot of the spring crop has sweet clover or weeds sticking up through it. We have not seen a really good field of oats or barley in Ohio or eastern Indiana.

For we are in Indianapolis now: a city half as large as Toronto. Like Washington this city was planned with streets radiating from the centre as spokes from a wheel. For those who are unaccustomed to this layout there is a great deal of difficulty in driving.

As in Ohio we found the Farm Bureau, a co-operative organization of farmers, in a very flourishing condition. Besides co-operative marketing and co-operative purchasing, the Farm Bureaus have gone into co-operative insurance very successfully. Gasoline has been a favorite commodity. Trucks deliver gas and oil to the farmers in large quantities to fuel the many cars and tractors. As yet the co-operative has not entered the towns or the general field and there are about as many filling stations per inch on the highways here as on Yonge St.

We had an hour to spare this afternoon, so we set out across Indianapolis to visit the mother of a Toronto friend. After dodging around angles all the way from 30 degrees to 130 degrees we got on the right street. But the street was torn up because of the removal of car tracks. The transportation system, which is owned by private enterprise, gives excellent service. The newer electric cars operate from overhead power but swing around the streets on rubber tires. Electricity and water are both in the hands of corporations rather than of the municipality. From what I can gather these utility corporations do about as they like. Those of us who are native to York county would not be quite satisfied to have a municipal water supply in the hands of a private monopoly to be operated for private profit.

But there is one waterworks in Indianapolis not controlled by either private or public interests. While we were visiting, the rain was turned on full flow. It may have been the carry-over of the recent Texas tornado that covered the streets here with water a foot deep in places. When the pressure slackened I started to get the car which had been left three blocks away because of the street reconstruction. To protect me from the drizzle the relatives of our Toronto friend provided me with a pink parasol. Resolutely I raised my pink parasol and set out across the city of Indianapolis. No sooner had I reached the car than the deluge was turned on again. But it did stop and we returned to camp to find our tent in good condition.

Tonight we must get to bed for tomorrow we visit the great stockyards of Indianapolis, the oil-blending plant of United Co-operatives, a testing kitchen, some new serum camp, a picnic of the Farm Bureau employees and a few other places and events.

WEED MENACE

When we town citizens fail to clean up a little patch of weeds, seemingly harmless enough, along comes Mr. Wind, picks up the seeds and carries them all over the countryside, some of them falling into the clean fields of conscientious farmers.

APPEAL FROM MURDER SENTENCE

A news item the other day said that a young man, sentenced to hang for murder, lost his chance to appeal because he was unable to raise the necessary funds. It seems to us that a man's right to appeal from a sentence of death should not depend on his financial status. His right of appeal should depend entirely on the merits of his case. One man should not be entitled to avoid the penalty provided by law because he has means, while another man has no such opportunity. Both men should be dealt with in an equally severe way, although we regard the death penalty as unconstructive. No man, not even a man clothed as the law, should take life.

The town of Amherstburg buys its water from a private concern, Brunner, Mond Canada, Limited. The company is offering the town a new contract, for three years, to supply 300,000 gallons of water daily at a cost of $10,000 a year, and nine cents per extra thousand gallons. The contract which has just run out provided for 350,000 gallons of water daily for $12,000 a year, and eight cents per extra thousand gallons.

The Common Round

By Isabel Inglis Colville

IT HAPPENS IN JUNE

"It will rain for sure tomorrow," said a friend to me, gloomily, on the evening of June 9.

"Why tomorrow?" I queried. "It always rains when women meet. Even if it doesn't actually pour, it looks so much like it, that you are sure it's going to anyway."

The next morning, sure enough, was like a discontented woman—a little gleam of sunshine might break through the prevailing greyness, only to be quenched by the low-lying clouds. "You'll have to give those cats an extra breakfast," said mother, "for if you don't they'll just sit and stare at me all morning and Ina and I don't like being stared at."

Whereupon tiny Buttercup jumped into her lap and impudent Sir Walter climbed the back of her chair, and peeped at her, to see if she really meant it.

Just then Ina came in saying, "Spot's gone again, Mrs. Colville," at which I groaned, for his mother, who has developed a fear complex, and imagines kidnappers in every corner. A day or two before, Puff had, in the grip of this terror, carried him off and after hunting for him, for hours, we found him between the straw stack and a barn door, in a space about two feet long and four inches wide.

"You can't climb that stack in those clothes," yelled mother. "Oh, can't I," said I, as I tore madly to the barnyard, and up the stack, there to lie flat on my face, and reach as far as I could. Was he there or was he not?

Yes, for just then my fingers encountered a wee smooth head and I fished him out of prison and returned in triumph, to be destroyed just in time to be ready to journey to Newmarket to the District Annual.

The lobby at the Friends' church presented a scene of activity as women poured in from North, South, East and West, there to sign their names and purchase their tickets for the mid-day meal.

The morning was dark, just as had been predicted, but the brightness of spirit, the optimistic outlook of the women assembled, lent its own brightness to the atmosphere.

I always listen, indeed I think every member does, with particular interest to the branch reports, and every year, the scope of their endeavors seems to widen.

The speakers from the department at Toronto have always emphasized the fact that Institute work should be educational, and certainly as one listened, one felt that the dictum of the "powers that be" was well observed. Following the recent investigation into the administration and affairs of Homewood Sanitarium, Guelph, Royal Commissioner Fred H. Barlow recommends in his report complete recasting of the Private Sanitaria Act, and strict governmental control over all private mental institutions.

A United States federal grand jury on Monday revealed activities of the German espionage service in the United States, indicting 18 persons, including officers in the German War Ministry, but only four of whom are in the United States.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the British House of Commons on Tuesday that he would make no reprisals against General Franco for the bombing of British ships in Spanish waters.

Guy Womack, New Orleans baby, was living on Tuesday, after being born 15 minutes after the death of his mother with heart disease.

The bodies of Archie Turnbull and Allen J. Wallace, who were killed in an airplane crash at Laurie Lake, Manitoba, were found on Monday. They had left on Friday for Reindeer Lake.

Emphatic protest was voiced on Monday in the House of Commons by the C.C.F. and other members, led by J. S. Woods, against the government's action in ordering ejection of the unemployed holding Vancouver post office.

Ten persons had a narrow escape from a burning launch this week when a backfire caused the boat to burst into flames. Eight of the passengers were able to get into a rowboat attached to the launch and the other two jumped into the water and clung to the boat until help arrived.

of authors and books, of legislation, agriculture, home economics, peace, historical research, Canadian industries, relief, are many topics on which one is glad to have light shed by those who have studied the subjects.

Each year, the work of providing Christmas cheer, where otherwise no cheer would be, is shown forth the institute spirit of good will.

Then there were bank books for babies, a purse for a bride, the sending of girls to the Guelph Conference, the practical aid given to a family made homeless by that dread enemy—fire, the help in money and kind, sent to hospitals and shelters—all worth while causes, within the scope of the institute, were given what support it was possible for the branches to give.

The Elmhurst Beach Branch won the brief case this year, for an excellent report, where all reports were so good that choice was difficult.

Miss Hopkins from the department spoke on Institute work, after which an adjournment was made for dinner, which was particularly enjoyed by those who had to accustom their daylight saving fed stomachs to standard time eating.

In the afternoon, Dr. S. J. Boyd welcomed us, as an Institute, to Newmarket in a way that made us feel quite proud of ourselves. He was followed by Mr. Raymond Booth, Toronto, who gave us a worthwhile talk.

He stressed the fact that if we women would only be intelligently, we could alter many of the abuses we deplore: that home discipline and support of school authority were obligatory to every woman, and indeed gave us to understand that the world would be pretty much what each one of us was willing to fight for. We had a delightful vocal solo, "In the Garden of Tomorrow," and then Miss Betty Wallace spoke of Institute work among the girls and hoped that our district would co-operate more in the future than in the past.

Mrs. W. R. Steeper gave a paper on the federated work, and then, Mrs. A. Boyd, our district president was retiring, came the election of officers, Mrs. Boyd has done splendid work, and the thanks of the Institute members are expressed here. Mrs. Ralph Willis succeeded her as District president; Mrs. C. Marchant, Schomberg, is sec'y. My space doesn't permit my naming the other officers. The meeting concluded with God Save the King, and we went out to face a truly torrential downpour.

However, our hearts were warmed by what we had heard and learned and our spirits refused to be damped by the pranks of the elements. And so, for another year, the District Annual is over.

Mrs. Maud Hamer of Toronto was the guest of Mrs. John Curry over Sunday.

Mr. Stouffer of Stouffville, visited his son, Mr. Andrew Stouffer, last week.

Mrs. H. A. Morton, who has been in Chicago for some time, is expected home this week.

Master Harold Maw leaves Saturday to spend three weeks of his vacation at Leamington.

Mr. Aubrey Davis is in Montreal this week on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rosamond left on Tuesday to spend the summer with their son at Denholm, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cowieson, Mrs. Robert Belfry and Mrs. Ross Evans spent Sunday in Hamilton with relatives.

Mr. C. G. Ross and family have gone to Orchard Beach for the season. Mrs. Beattie of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. Ross for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Russell Collins is attending the Teachers' Excursion to the old country, which leaves Montreal on June 28. They will visit Scotland, England, France and Switzerland, and expect to be gone two months.

St. John's R. C. church will hold their annual garden party on July 3.

Town council for the coming year, as elected on Tuesday, is as follows: mayor, Col. Allan; reeve, Wm. Keith; deputy reeve, B. W. Hunter; councillors, Dr. S. J. Boyd, W. E. Dolan, R. B. Smith, W. H. Helmer, E. J. Hill and A. W. Evans.

Mr. H. M. Mathewson, of the Toronto Mail staff, was in town yesterday and visited The Era office.

Mrs. T. H. Scott and son of Toronto are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Scott's brothers and sisters at Oakley Farm.

Mrs. George McClintock, Illinois, brother of Mr. Stewart McClintock, is visiting him, and will remain probably for the summer.

A very pleasant gathering took place at "The Cedars" on Monday evening, in honor of Mrs. R. H. Smith's birthday.

Mr. J. Willis, teller of the Ontario Bank, is enjoying his vacation at Port Elgin. Mr. E. A. Bogart is acting as teller in his absence, and a good "sub" he is too.

Mr. J. E. Souch was visiting at Port Perry over Sunday, where Mrs. Souch has been spending a couple of weeks.

Holidays for the school children will be longer than usual this year. Public schools in town close June 29, and open August 27, rural public schools close July 6 and open August 20.

Lyman Bogart, out on an early morning walk Monday, found a snapping turtle, a foot and a half long and a foot across his back, weighing 18 lbs. He will probably be presented to the Toronto Zoo.

After the three or four days of hot weather experienced this week, when the thermometer reached 100 in the shade Sunday afternoon, we would welcome a cool breeze again.

A valuable brood mare belonging to Robert Pearson was killed by an engine at Pearson's crossing last week.

The first call of the fire brigade to duty by the electric alarm system took place on Thursday evening. The signals are well understood by the citizens, it is felt, but the whistle sounds very much like a train whistle. We doubt if the whistle without the alarm on the town bell would be sufficient to arouse the citizens at night.

The new sidewalk on Timothy street, which was so badly needed, is going to cost far more than was at first supposed. The cribbing had given away, which meant that a new foundation must be put in. Work is progressing quickly in order that the improvements will be completed by Dominion day.

MARRIED—At Sutton, on June 7, by Rev. D. Cattnach, M. Van-Luven to Miss Esther Stewart, both of Sutton.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era: I was pleased to read in a recent issue of your weekly newspaper expression of appreciation uttered by several of the citizens of the services rendered to the town and community by Mr. P. W. Pearson. He was a neighbor of mine in his younger days on the farm, and I particularly remember him in the work connected with the King Mission Sunday-school, where he so successfully conducted the Bible class for a number of years. I have seldom seen him in the last 40 years, but during that time I have been a subscriber to the "Newmarket Era" and have been interested to read references from time to time to his many activities for the welfare of his fellow-man. The town may well be proud of him.

Very truly yours,

W. H. T. Megill.

Ottawa, June 2, 1938

Editor, The Era: May I, through the medium of your paper, extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who helped make our first Girl Guide Rally on June 18 a success.

I would like to thank Mr. G. A. Binns for coming to our rescue and letting us use the Arena, the Boy Scouts for their able assistance, the school boards for allowing us the use of the separate school and the Stuart Scott school and grounds (the latter we were unable to use owing to the rain), also the Express—Herald and Newmarket Era for their kindness in publishing items of Guide news and keeping the movement before the public.

May I, on behalf of our Guides and Guides in Newmarket say "Thank You" to the R. S. A. Bugle Band for their splendid turn-out and help in the march-past. They are certainly one of the finest bugle bands to be heard anywhere, and Mr. Andrews who has given so unsparingly of his time and advice and helped the Guides in so many ways. Lastly, the police for regulating the traffic and so making the march-past all I offer my sincere thanks.

Yours sincerely,

New! HOMOGENIZED MILK

You will enjoy milk processed this modern way—it is so smooth and creamy-rich! Some of the advantages of Homogenized Milk are:

- No mixing necessary
- More palatable
- Greater dietetic value
- More complete digestion
- Makes creamier custards
- Easily prepared for infant feeding
- No loss of cream in scum after boiling
- Improves texture of foods
- Makes finer soups and gravies
- Richer on cereals
- Better in tea or coffee
- Quicker to serve

In order that the advantages of Homogenized Milk may be fully understood, Mr. Reeves, an expert in this field, will be with the dairy for a few weeks and will be glad to call and demonstrate—whether you are a customer or not.

Laurie Flannigan, possession of illegal spirits, adjourned two weeks. Bail set at $200.

Leslie Jones, theft of bicycle from Marcel Bonen, charge dismissed.

C. H. Cox, fraud, warrant to issue for his arrest.

Albert Westmore, driving while intoxicated, remanded one week. Accused was jailed till bail of $500 is raised.

Ross Park, charge of carnal knowledge, remanded one week. Accused was jailed till bail of $1,000 is raised.

Two charges of possessing illegal liquor, and permitting drunkenness, laid against George West, East Gwillimbury, were both dismissed by the magistrate. Campbell Line, Richmond Hill, acted as counsel for West.

Constable Watt testified that he and Constable Barracough went with a search warrant to investigate a liquor complaint at West's. There they found Mike Graham lying on a couch drunk while there were 14 empty bottles scattered around, he said. A full bottle was found at the top of the cellar stairway and an analysis was taken of this. George West was found lying on a bed with his clothes on in a drunken stupor while numerous empty bottles were around his room, stated Constable Watt.

Through defence evidence it was shown that West has a permit to make home brew.

The crown, represented by N. L. Mathews, K.C., thought this permit was cancelled when the accused was convicted on a liquor charge in 1923, but apparently it hadn't been.

Pleading not guilty to a charge of reckless driving, William Stewart, Barrie, was fined $10 and costs or ten days. Counsel for accused was A. F. Woods, Barrie.

Roy Middlebrook, Armitage, testified that he stopped his car in a dip between the brow of two hills to pick up a lady and her son. His car was on the pavement. He saw another car come over the hill and come straight for him, so he started the car along in low gear. The other car damaged his left fender. Mr. Middlebrook said that then the driver lost control of the car and it turned over.

Wm. Stewart, who is a taxi driver, had three women and two children in his car. He said that the Middlebrook car came to a sudden stop without a warning and that he tried to swing out and miss the car but the impact threw the car along and he lost control, so the taxi rolled over near the guard-rail.

Two charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving, laid against Henry McCutcheon, Toronto, were dismissed by the magistrate.

Wm. Peterson, Roche's Point, testified he was driving through Queensville about 30 miles per hour when he saw a car coming down the middle of the road. He pulled off the pavement but the car struck his on the left side and stopped 50 to 70 feet on. He and the owner of the car, Fred Critten-den, went back, but could find no one. They waited around and Mr. McCutcheon came up and said he had been in the car but not driving. Mr. Peterson said. He refused to tell who was the driver or who else was in the car, but he offered to pay for damages to Mr. Critten-den's car, said the witness.

Donald M. Fraser, Toronto, stated McCutcheon was doing some repair work to his car and it was left at his place. McCutcheon took the car left in his care and got a friend to drive him up near Queensville.

After the accident the other occupants of the McCutcheon car, Mr. and Mrs. Morden, York township, and Wilmet Thompson went away and took the keys, McCutcheon said.

McCutcheon and the Mordens had been drinking. Mrs. Morden testified, but Thompson was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Dr. L. W. Dales refused to say McCutcheon was intoxicated.

"It seems to me that Thompson was responsible and not McCutcheon," stated the magistrate. "I am not satisfied with the evidence given of drunkenness."

Convicted on a charge of reckless driving, Wilmet Thompson was fined $10 and costs of $16.50 or ten days, and he was jailed an additional seven days. The magistrate recommended that no permit be granted the accused for six months.

Charged with having illegal spirits, William Graham was fined $100 and costs, or three months. Campbell Line, counsel for the accused, stated his client wished to appeal. The magistrate set bail at $250. Graham went to jail until bail is raised.

Constables Watt and Forsyth went to Jess Sadler's on the old Bradford road to tell him to move as he is a squatter. While there, they testified they saw Graham start off, going across to the railway fence, carrying something under his sweater. On the other side of the track he dropped something, then climbed another fence and disappeared. He didn't return home for a week after. Constable Forsyth found a bottle which on analysis showed a content of 76.02 proof spirit.

Graham was convicted in this court last October on a liquor charge and is on probation. His counsel said that Graham was trying to stop drinking and that he didn't drop the bottle found, but the magistrate disagreed and convicted Graham.

Douglas Stockdale, 17, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs or ten days and his driver's license was cancelled for two days.

The accused had been drinking and then drove up a street in Sutton scattering gravel and zig-zagging from side to side. Several witnesses took down his license number as they thought he was driving recklessly.

Denies Huge Sum Paid Out For Performance By Choir

Jubilee Plans For "Old Home Week" Nearly Completed

"Some people think the Mendelssohn choir is costing us a huge sum and that we are putting all our money into it," Dr. C. R. Boulding told Aurora's jubilee committee on Monday night. "As a matter of fact, we are paying the choir only $150. This, and the cost of printing and of erecting a platform, is all that it is costing us. If the arena is nicely filled on Saturday night we will be able to contribute toward the cost of a bandstand for the park."

"People don't realize that the choir has sung in only five places in Canada," Hugh Bowman remarked. The performance begins at 9 p.m., D.S.T. "The performance will mark a highlight in the history of Aurora," Dr. Boulding stated. "If we can put it across, we will be doing something that no other town of this size has done."

Miss Eva Lemon and Mrs. N. Eade reported on the progress made by the ladies of the com-

LODGE MEETS MONDAY

The postponed meeting of the Elma Rebekah Lodge will be held Monday evening, June 27. This is the last meeting for the summer months and a report of the Rebekah Assembly in Hamilton, will be heard.

mittee. Bob Westlake reported for the Veterans.

The Veterans are planning a girls' softball tournament for the afternoon of Saturday, July 9. The final game will be played in the evening, to be followed by a street dance.

On Sunday evening there will be a union service of all Aurora churches in the town park with a Salvation Army band from Toronto in attendance.

On Monday afternoon the ladies will hold their re-union get-together in the form of a huge outdoor tea party. A baseball game and a band concert are planned for Monday evening. Tuesday will be given over entirely to the Orangemen, and Wednesday is in the hands of the Aurora Service Club.

ABOUT TOWN

HELP WANTED

We have received a letter. Like most of the letters we receive, it asks us to do something. Unlike most letters we receive, however, we are—in this instance—glad to do it.

The Neighborhood Workers' Association of Toronto does a good deal to make more nearly bearable the lot of underprivileged kiddies in Toronto. There are plenty of such kiddies in the big town, and the Neighborhood Workers' have their hands full. They have asked us to ask you to help.

Here's the way of it: "The fresh air, green lawns and quiet countryside surrounding our town—taken carelessly for granted by Aurora youngsters—are as rare as hen's teeth in the crowded, smoke-ridden slums and semi-slums of Toronto."

The slum children have no need of lakeside cottages or motor trips to give them a change. . . a week or two on a farm or in a small-town home would give them that glimpse of heaven necessary to a holiday.

The Neighborhood Workers ask your help in giving these children a chance to draw fresh, clean air into their lungs, an opportunity to feel the cool, green grass under their feet, and a week or two to forget the ugly, smutted buildings that form the drab horizon of their every-day life.

Everyone in Aurora and district who has a spare room, a piece of lawn and a drop of human kindness is invited to write the Neighborhood Workers' Association, Toronto.

"Inasmuch as ye do it unto the least of these . . ."

JULY 9 TO 13

These are the dates of Aurora's old home week. Beginning with "Warriors' Day" on Saturday, July 9, this town will move back its nose a little from the daily grindstone, shove its battered hat back off its forehead and, with a modest cry of "Whoop!" proceed to celebrate the 50th anniversary of its incorporation as a town.

What are you going to do about it? If you are thinking of obeying that impulse to "let George do it,"—forget it. . . we've given George so much to do already that he's been bawling for help for the past week.

One of the biggest problems of the jubilee committee is that of getting in touch with ex-residents and friends, and it is in this that you can be of most help. A brief note or two from you addressed to those of your acquaintance who have been connected with Aurora but who are not now a part of it, will do much to ensure a fine attendance at the old home week activities. A good deal of work has been done, and more will be done, to make these activities worth while. Your active co-operation is needed, however, to make the celebration complete. If circumstances make it difficult for you to do some of the work yourself, get out and cheer for those who are doing it. And make it loud.

THE MENDELSSOHN CHOIR

The prices at which the public is to be admitted to hear the famous Mendelssohn choir in the local arena on Saturday evening brings the chance of hearing this 300-voice unit down to a cost-per-customer of 12 voices for one cent, by our figures. Figuring it any way you wish—it is still literally the chance of a lifetime to hear this wonderful musical organization. Come and bring the kiddies. . . they'll want to be able to tell their grandchildren about it.

which was held at the Briars Golf club, at Sutton, on Thursday of last week. The guest speaker was Mr. R. J. Renison, M. A., D. D., who took as his topic "Quest of Romance."

Dr. Dillane, as president of the association, had charge of both the golf tournament and the ladies' bridge tournament. A fine musical program was provided by Madame Holland of Woodbridge and Miss Valerie Hunter, Schomberg.

The Anglican W. A. met on Wednesday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. H. Carter. The president, Mrs. R. J. Hulse, was in charge.

The Women's Institute was held last week on Tuesday in the club room. The new president, Mrs. E. J. Pearson, conducted the meeting in a very efficient manner. The main item on the program was a full report of the district annual held in Newmarket by Mrs. Schoutla.

Mrs. F. V. Abbott, Mrs. I. Hulse, and Miss G. Ames, attended a special meeting of the Woodbridge W. A. of Christ Church to commemorate 25 years since re-organization. A special service of inter-

Souvenirs Of Early Days Of Railroading Kept At Station

A souvenir of the "good old days" before Aurora was incorporated as a town, or even as a village, is kept in the office of Station Agent Clarke. It is a lamp shade bearing the initials "O.S. & H.R.R." bearing witness to the fact that it belonged to the Ontario Simcoe and Huron railroad built in 1855.

The base of the lamp is made from part of a ticket desk which was in the old Holland Landing station, Mr. Clarke told The Era. Even in those days railroads knew how to take care of their property, and Mr. Clarke tells an amusing story of how the railroad's woodpile was protected. The woodpile, it seemed, had the bad habit of growing smaller overnight.

Lacking the town's present efficient police, one of the railroad's employees undertook to stop the petty thieving. He placed gunpowder in the wood itself, and awaited reports. Fortunately for the person who had been taking the wood, the gunpowder experiment received some publicity. The wood was returned quickly and no more was taken.

Net Stars Trim Penetang In Five Of Seven Matches

Aurora Tennis Club Out-Points Rivals In First Tourney

The Aurora tennis club took its first step toward the championship of the York-Simcoe tennis group last weekend when they journeyed to Penetang to win five matches out of the seven played.

Keith Davis took the men's "A" singles handily, beating Harold Beaudoin, of Penetang, 6-2, 6-1. George Richardson of Penetang took revenge for his club when he beat Lees Owram, 6-3, 6-2, after Lees had taken the first of the three sets by 6-3, in the men's "B" singles.

Lees Owram teamed up with Keith Davis in the men's "A" doubles to win over George Richardson and Bernard Beaudoin, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2. In the "B" doubles, Keith Nesbitt and "Wink" Bernard rapped out a 6-4, 6-2 victory over J. Fitzgerald and S. Corbeau of Penetang. The mixed doubles resulted in an 8-7, 6-1 win for Aurora.

Rev. Dr. E.J. Thompson Takes Over Presbytery Leadership

Meeting Features Discussion Of Financial Support

The chairmanship of the Toronto Centre Presbytery of the United Church was officially passed on to Rev. Dr. E. J. Thompson, at the presbytery's regular meeting, held in Aurora on Tuesday morning.

The meeting featured a discussion concerning financial support of the church in general and missionary and maintenance work in particular. The present method was not sufficiently flexible, some felt, to permit members of the congregations to support the various departments.

The members had lunch in the church parlors after the meeting and were addressed by Dr. C. J. L. Bates, who had just recently returned from Japan.

est took place in Christ Church, Kettleby, on Sunday morning, when Rt. Rev. Beverley, suffragan bishop of Toronto, was present to administer the rite of confirmation.

There were 11 confirmers, those from this section of the parish being Mrs. Hutchings, Miss Ethel Smith, Miss Mary Wauchope, Harry and Howard Watson, twin brothers, and Jack Wauchope. The bishop gave a splendid address following confirmation, which will be remembered by those present.

Mr. T. Wauchope, teacher of commercial work in Tulsa, Oklahoma, U.S.A., spent several days recently with Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wauchope and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wauchope.

Miss K. Abbott, nurse-in-training at the Wellesley hospital, Toronto, has been spending a short vacation at her home here at the rectory.

Mrs. Bert Rowe of Aurora and Mrs. Brown of Newmarket were representatives to the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario in Hamilton on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Annie Hallam of Toronto was the weekend guest of Miss Lily Bradbury, Irwin Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rank motored to Penetang on Sunday, to visit Mr. Rank's mother.

Miss Verna Clubine of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Johnson and family are leaving on Saturday for their summer home. They expect to be away all summer.

Miss Marjorie Foy, R. N., of Bancroft has returned after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foy, Metcalfe St.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Connor attended decoration day services at Oshawa on Sunday.

Miss Doris Case has returned from spending a few days with relatives in Pickering.

Miss Helen Patterson entertained on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Douglas Case who is soon to move to Toronto. A shower of handkerchiefs and a "good luck" cake expressed the good wishes of those present.

DECORATION DAY PARADE PLANNED

Veterans and citizens alike will take part in the decoration day services on Sunday afternoon. The parade with the Aurora boys' band in attendance, will leave the town park at 2:30 p.m., and will proceed to the war memorial.

Decoration of the graves at the Aurora cemetery will take place in the morning.

W.C.T.U. ENJOY BRUNSWICK HALL

J. M. Walton was host to the Aurora W.C.T.U. on Tuesday afternoon, when members accepted his invitation to hold their June meeting at his summer home, Brunswick Hall, Kettleby.

Mrs. S. Stevens and Mrs. H. J. Charles gave a report of the convention held recently in Willard Hall, Toronto. Mrs. B. G. Whitelaw had charge of the devotional period, and Mr. Walton spoke briefly on the temperance situation.

Tea was served at small tables placed on the verandah and lawn, following the meeting.

sary service on Sunday morning. The Lasky male quartet provided the music in the evening. Mr. Williams of the missionary and maintenance department of the United Church of Canada was the special speaker for the day.

A strawberry festival climaxed the anniversary on Wednesday evening. Nobleton Young People are presenting their play.

On Sunday evening, Miss Ruth Bateson, accompanied by Mrs. Ward of King City, was the guest of Aurora W.C.T.U. at the closing Sunday evening Y.P.U. meeting. Miss Marie Thorpe gave a talk and report of the Canadian Youth Congress.

It is with deep regret that the community learns that the Rev. Mr. D. Davis has had to vacate his pulpit again on account of ill health. It is hoped that he will soon recover, but not come back to his work until such a time as he has made a complete recovery.

On Sunday, the members of the Orange Lodge of the district parade to the King City United Church. Rev. Mr. Worrall of the Anglican church will be the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, Sr., of Temperanceville have returned from Manitoulin Island.

The guide was conducting a tourist party through the automobile plant. He stopped by the assembly line.

"Do you know what would happen if that man on the right side ever missed a day at work?" he asked the members of the party.

"No; what would happen?" spoke up one.

"Twenty-two hundred and sixty-one cars would go out of the factory without springs."

"Say, mister," said an interested onlooker, "that fellow's been off a lot, hasn't he?"

Richmond Hill Beaten In Return Game, 6-3

Shore's Hurling Backed By Fine Fielding, And Hitting

HILL PITCHING WEAK

The Aurora softball team hit its winning stride once more with a clean-cut victory over Schomberg in the latter's home grounds on Friday night of last week.

Playing on their home grounds on Tuesday night, the Aurorans beat out another well-earned win, this time over the Richmond Hill aggregation. The Hill boys found the pitching of "Nugget" Shore a little too much for them and an average of only four batters came to the plate in each inning.

The team backed up Shore's hurling with smart play in the field, pulling three double-plays, and with steady batting that brought hits in every inning and runs in six of them.

Aurora got its first run when "Nimby" Heaney came home following hits by Shore and Hunter in the initial inning. The Hillers had gone out in quick order helped along with a double play which starred Yakes, Aurora first baseman.

The next three Richmond Hill batters, Bennett, Acland and Proctor went out without touching first base. Then Shatka, flashy Aurora catcher, knocked out a two-bagger which was turned into a run when White, Shropshire and Yakes were walked by Stong, whose pitching for Richmond Hill was below its usual form.

Masich, Crean and Stong failed to get to first base for the visitors in the third inning, and Shore added to his honors when he laced out a homer that put the Aurorans three runs ahead. Richmond Hill's first tally came in the fourth inning, when Mabely came home on a hit by Bennett, but without cramping the Aurorans' hitting streak.

The visitors replaced Stong Shropshire was injured as he came into second base and was replaced by Jennings, who came home to score. Yakes, Ted Henney and Shore loaded the bases, but died there when Yakes was caught between third and home and Hunter fanned.

Crean got as far as third base for Richmond Hill in the fifth, but his team mates were unable to bring him in. Heaney led the batting for Aurora and got to first on a bunt, to come home on hits by Shatka, followed by a two-bagger by "Nimby" Heaney.

Both teams went scoreless in the sixth and a double play retired the Hillers quickly in the seventh. Shatka popped out a two-bagger for the home team and scored when "Nimby" Heaney and Jennings hit safely.

Richmond Hill made it a bit more interesting when White and Mabely scored on a fine three-base hit by Brown, to give the visitors three runs to the Aurorans' six. It was the last scoring done by them, however, for the homesters pulled their third double play of the evening in the ninth inning to end a crowd-pleasing game.

Machell's Corners Recalled By T.H. Broad, Born In '57

Argument Was Needed To Change Town's Name To Aurora

Memories of the old days, when Aurora was "Machell's Corners," are recalled by T. H. Broad, Catherine St. Mr. Broad was born here 81 years ago, and his father was associated with the railroad here for 40 years, and travelled in the first passenger train to come from Toronto to Aurora, on May 24, 1857.

Apparently, Aurora did not get its name without an argument, and the argument was between Dick Machell and Charles Doane. With the help of Robert Irwin, Ben Pearson and Robert Boyd, who were in council at the time, Mr. Doane managed to get the town named Aurora, and the post office, then known as "Whitchurch Post Office" became the Aurora post office, Mr. Broad recalled.

With a memory of the time when Catherine St. was a field of waving grain, Mr. Broad recalled, too, Erastus Jackson, publisher of the Newmarket Era. "He was a very fine man," Mr. Broad stated, and credited Mr. Jackson with getting the House of Refuge built on its present site. "He worked for his town. I admire him for it."

Another and very different figure is prominent in Mr. Broad's reminiscences. It is "Old Snake," former chief of the Ojibwa tribe, and after whom Snake Island was named.

Memory of the old Indian brought back another recollection: the "tannery creek" once had a much more attractive name. The Indians called it Red Willow creek and it was a popular watercourse in the old days.

Stranger Refuses Questioning After Escaping From Accident

Headless Road Crossing Nearly Penalized By Death

What is believed to be North York's slowest pedestrian came near to being a victim of a week-end traffic accident a few Sundays ago, The Era learns.

Wandering slowly and aimlessly across one of the district roads, he just missed an untimely death under the wheels of a car driven by B. G. Whitelaw. Mr. Whitelaw stopped his car in time, however, and assisting the stranger into his auto, drove him back to town.

On being questioned, the near-victim refused to divulge his name or address, nor would he offer any explanation of his conduct. The only reason that he was not immediately handed over to the local police is that he is a turtle, and not a human being, even if he does cross a street like one.

The turtle was christened "Methuselah" and on Monday morning was at work at Mr. Whitelaw's store. He showed a complete lack of enterprise, however, and was so slow in waiting on customers (even those who wanted The Era) that he was soon dismissed.

He is now in the custody of Gordon Boak, an Aurora youngster who is convalescing after an attack of appendicitis. Gordon has found Methuselah an entertaining companion, though not much of a conversationalist. A piece of string which has been threaded through a small hole bored near the edge of Methuselah's upper crust, enables his young master to keep him from getting into any more accidents.

WINS IN TORONTO

Keith Davis, local tennis star, has advanced quite handsly through the first two rounds of the Broadview tournament being held in Toronto.

AGINCOURT WINS

The Mrs. W. E. Lyons trophy was won by an Agincourt rink, skippered by Mrs. Vincent, at the Newmarket club grounds last Thursday. Miss Taylor, Toronto, was high for two wins, and Mrs. Radcliffe, Stouffville, was high for one. Eight or ten rinks competed.

He took her hand in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired, tenderly. "They did more than that," she replied. "Two of them recognized it."

Call To Firemen Interrupts Softball Tilt In Town Park

Firefighters Summoned To Save Gypsy Caravan From Alberta

The sound of the fire engine provided a counter attraction to the softball game on Tuesday, and a number of fans, seeing their team had a good lead, left the game to see the fire.

The scene of the fire was the rolling home of a gypsy family from Alberta, and Yonge St. traffic was tied up while the firemen attempted to salvage the car, already badly burned.

Mother, father and two grandchildren, inhabitants of the gypsy vehicle, managed to save a good many of their belongings, however. They were on their way to spend the summer in Toronto.

SCHOOL NOTES

Mentioning holidays, they're on the way, but some kids are wondering whether they're going to be happily started with a happy thought (meaning, will they pass?). It's a bad thought this, but these exams that are just stepping in may change their attitudes and at the end of the year their faces may be wreathed in smiles. P. S. Let's hope so.

Bicycles are increasing in popularity and the number of cycling pupils is rapidly increasing, too. When the bicycles come to school, they are left at the side of the school, three deep. In front of these bikes, ball is being played and many bikes have almost lost spokes. Anyone visiting the school would see them piled up and anyone could come along and take a bicycle or two so that each boy wants his bicycle behind the other boys'.

But, why doesn't the school do something. Toronto schools are using iron racks that are put up against the wall and the bicycles are easily kept in a small place.

And another thing: Sometimes a boy comes along and finds his bicycle knocked down and the boy whose bicycle is at the back sometimes knocks a lot of other boys' bicycles down, and this is another way racks or stands would help. How about the board treating us to bicycle racks?

Dear Mr. Shaver:

I want to express my sincere appreciation of your courtesy and cooperation in connection with our recent telephone conversation with friends in England.

The arrangements were carried out with precision and dispatch which gave us a new and finer appreciation of Bell Telephone services.

Your Montreal operator as well as the Chief Operator here deserve special credit for their courtesy and attention in arranging the details in connection with this affair.

The event gave us a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction enabling us to speak to some of our relatives in the Old Country whom some of us have never seen. To consider the event was a success in every sense of the word.

Thanks to yourself, the members of your staff, and all who had any part in making the necessary arrangements.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Ralph Willis visited Mrs. Wm. Williamson in Markham on Friday.

Those who were unable to attend the regular monthly meeting of the W.I. at Mrs. A. Richardson's last Wednesday, missed a real treat. There was an attendance of 34 besides 14 children. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Fetch, the first vice-president, occupied the chair. After the usual opening singing, the Institute Ode and repeating the Institute Creed, the roll-call, "An interesting place I have visited," was well responded to.

The business of the day was attended to, after which Mrs. Ralph Willis, on behalf of the Vandorf W.I., presented Mrs. Albert van Nostrand with a life membership certificate. Mrs. van Nostrand was quite taken by surprise, but replied in her usual gracious manner. It is 30 years since this branch was organized and Mrs. van Nostrand was the first president and Mrs. Reuben Hawtin, the first secretary-treasurer. Mrs. van Nostrand has been an active member of the branch ever since its inception. This is a record she and the branch may well be proud of. It is hoped that she may be spared to meet with the Institute for many more years.

Mrs. Peter Fobert of Aurora very kindly gave a solo.

Mrs. Cale then gave a very vivid description of her trip to Washington and Oregon. It was a real treat, next best to taking the trip personally.

A report of the New York district annual convention was given by Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Arthur van Nostrand reported the educational meeting held at Pickering College on Saturday afternoon. A very profitable afternoon was brought to a close as tasty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Wesley Ladies' Aid and Y.P.U. are sponsoring a strawberry festival on June 30. There will be a good concert.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. George E. Richardson for arranging the splendid flower and art exhibit at Wesley church on June 15. The flowers, mostly iris and peonies, were grouped near the centre of the room with green shrubs banked around them.

Public school drawings, snapshots and oil and water colors took up every available foot of wall space and were also displayed on a long table.

During the evening the girls of the choir and three assistants served ice-cream and cake and fruit punch at small tables arranged along the wall and made bright by small lamps on each table.

From another corner of the room a small radio played from a concealed position behind evergreens and screens representing the entrance to a house.

Judges of the art display were Mrs. G. W. Williams and Mrs. D. Wilcox of Aurora, who were assisted by Mrs. E. J. Thompson and Mrs. J. H. Knowles, also of Aurora. Mrs. Dodson of Aurora judged the flower exhibits.

Supper was served for the judges, friends who assisted with arrangements, talent from Toronto, the press representative, pastor and senior choir members. The supper arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Roy Morley, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Powell of Aurora.

The second part of the evening's program was given in the church auditorium, where Mr. Ellen, assistant trade commissioner of Australia, assisted by Mr. Mutch, also of that department, gave an illustrated talk on Australia, its history, industries and people.

Miss Ethel Carrigan is spending this week with her parents in Hamilton.

Miss Anne Willis and Miss Ruth Willis of Toronto spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Willis.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at Mrs. Roy Morley's on Friday, June 24. The speakers will be Mrs. Westcott and Mrs. Foote. Mrs. Fred Preston will sing a solo. The meeting has been advanced because of the Sunday-school picnic, which will be held at Island Grove the following week.

VANDORF

VANDORF MAN IS WIDELY MOURNED

This community is mourning the loss of one of its most loved and well-known citizens in the person of Alfred George Snider, who died shortly after one o'clock on Sunday morning. He had suffered a stroke three weeks before, which had left one side paralyzed. He was conscious and hope was held for his recovery until he had another stroke last Friday night.

Mr. Snider has spent his entire life in Vandorf, except for a short time when he lived in Stouffville. He was born 71 years ago, Sept. 19, 1866, in the house across from his present residence. His parents were George Snider and Eliza Booth Snider. Mr. Snider was associated with his father as a wheelwright and carriage maker in conjunction with a small farm, until he bought the store from George Powell. He married Miss Ella Mertens.

As a boy he attended Sunday-school at Wesley church, where he later became a member, then elder and for a number of years was a member of the choir. "Mr. Snider always put God and the church first in his life and gave of his time and talents and anything he could bring to bear on the influence of the church. He laid up for himself treasures in Heaven"—this was the tribute paid him by his pastor, Mr. Westcott, at the service in the church on Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. Garnet Lynd, his former pastor, endorsed all that Mr. Westcott had said and added "He had a kindly nature, with a sense of humor and always had a smile. He enjoyed life because he could see the bright side of life. Mr. Snider was a most generous man. He carried on business to help people rather than for profits, and was generous with what he had. He took an energetic part in fitting up the little cemetery adjoining the church, to make it a fit resting place for the pioneers of this community."

Mr. Snider was very devoted to his family. A year ago he and his wife enjoyed a trip to the west.

For a number of years he conducted a general store and post office here. Early this spring he sold his business to his son-in-law, R. B. Brown.

Mr. Snider is survived by his widow and two daughters, Bertha (Mrs. H. Dewsbury) and Mabel (Mrs. R. B. Brown); four grandchildren, George Dewsbury, Doris Dewsbury, Douglas and Frederick Brown, all of Vandorf.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Westcott and Rev. Mr. Lynd, meeting at the house at 1:30 and at the church at 2 o'clock. The church was filled to its capacity and many had to remain outside. The floral tributes help to show the esteem in which Mr. Snider was held in the community. The message as given by both pastors urged all present to "Prepare to meet our God."

The old yet ever beautiful hymns chosen for the occasion were "Rock of Ages" and "Jerusalem the Golden." The choir sang that old hymn "Oh, can you say you are ready, Brother?"

The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas. Oliver, Harry Sproxtton, Roy Morley, Roland Scott, Wm. A. McDonald and John Petch.

The body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Wesley church.

Among those noticed from a distance were: Rev. G. W. and Mrs. Lynd and Mr. Burrows of Stayner, Col. Van Nostrand, Mrs. Tinline, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Mertens and

EVERSLEY MOTHER WAS 1ST W. M. S. PRESIDENT

There was a wedding service held in Eversley church on Saturday afternoon. It is a most unusual thing as the writer has no recollection of a marriage ceremony held there before.

The bride was Alma Cairns, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Cairns of Eversley. The groom was Mr. Bartlett Hunter of Sudbury, and Miss Edith Bovair, niece of the bride, and Leonard Shropshire, assisted in supporting the bride and groom. Rev. M. E. Burch performed the ceremony. There were no other guests. Baskets of beautiful posies, great white and rose perfumed beauties, added their beauty and fragrance to the scene.

On Friday night 70 or more friends held a shower for Alma at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Bovair. The shower was largely of towels and dishes. A good time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, after a trip, will settle in Sudbury. Congratulations are extended.

Again to all members of the Ferguson clan goes out the clarion call for a gathering of the clan on Saturday of this week, at the home of Robert Bell, Avonbank, near St. Marys.

There are many friends of Isobel Rae in Newmarket who remember her in her school and high school days. Her husband, Fred Benham, passed away on Friday at the Private Patients' Pavilion, Toronto General Hospital. Mr. Benham had been ill for some time. Sympathy goes out to his wife, Isobel Rae Benham.

Was the world ever more beautiful than it is now? Looking at our lovely Ontario, one can scarcely visualize the awful devastation war has made in Spain and in China. May war never come near Canada, and may peace soon settle over the disturbed countries!

The big day for Eversley women has passed into history—the history of the women's missionary auxiliary. The Eversley Presbyterian W.M.S. celebrated its 50 years of service in the historic stone church. All nature assisted in making June 15 a perfect day, full of sunshine and cool breezes, green fields and gorgeous flowers. The honey locust trees on the lawn were in full bloom and the air was sweet with the fragrance. Even the two old trees on either side of the gate, with gnarled dead branches, ambitiously clustered as many flowers as they could, to cover up their old limbs.

The Lombardy Poplar at the north of the cemetery held its head erect towards the sky, and the church was full.

Yes, full of women gathered to help celebrate the golden jubilee of Eversley Missionary Society. Some of these societies present had already celebrated their golden jubilee, and others were near doing so. Rev. M. E. Burch, the pastor, and Rev. J. D. Cunningham of Richmond Hill were present and assisted.

The president, Miss A. A. Ferguson, was in the chair, as her mother, Mrs. Agnes Ferguson, the first president for many years had been 50 years ago.

Miss Tinline read the love passage from First Corinthians, chapter 13, and gave a short exposition. The gathering was honored in having present this 90-year-old lady, so clear in intellect and fervor.

Mrs. Rolling, the secretary, called the roll, introducing the Eversley ladies, who answered with Scripture texts. The secretary then read the history of the society dealing largely with the early formative years. It made interesting history.

Mrs. A. McClure read a report of the Mizpah mission band which had been organized by Mrs. Ferguson and carried on for 38 years. Mrs. McClure as Mary Wells, and Nellie Ness, now Mrs. F. Atkinson of Richmond Hill, were first secretaries. Rev. Mr. Burch welcomed the guests.

Dr. Effie Winchester of India gave the missionary address. The president, Mrs. Hill introduced and gave a brief address. Miss Barker of Richmond Hill sang a solo in her usual delightful manner. A list of the presbytery's sectional vice-presidents was given and those present spoke briefly. Mrs. D. McIntyre of Newmarket, Mrs. Cunningham of Richmond Hill, Mrs. Cooper of Willowdale and Mrs. Ransom of King.

The list of auxiliary presidents was given and tribute paid to those and the many members who had gone home during those 50 years and the hymn "For all the saints who from their labors rest," was sympathetically sung.

Mrs. Hendry spoke for the city officers. The offering was taken and Rev. Mr. Cunningham gave the offertory prayer. There were present a good representation from all sister auxiliaries and a representative from each gave glad greetings—from Newmarket, Mrs. McIntyre, and with her, Mrs. Cameron of Vancouver, formerly of the renowned Kildonan church; from Aurora, Mrs. Green, one of the Eversley charter members; Richmond Hill, Mrs. Cunningham; Strange, Mrs. McClure; 8th Line, Mrs. H.

daughter and Mr. Clifford Mertons of Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Powell and Miss Carrie Petch of Toronto and Mrs. Halfyard.

Cairns; Beza, Mrs. Ballard; King, Anglican, Mrs. Walker; Baptists, Mrs. Hardy; United, Mrs. Stone.

Miss Fisher for the King Baptists brought a birthday gift of a large basket of golden iris and purple phlox. Other flowers of gold were given by Mrs. Bak and golden roses were in plenty and other baskets of beauty.

After the close of the service, lunch was partaken of and a happy social time spent. Miss Annie Gibson of Agincourt, a member of long ago, was among those present. Mrs. Gellatly and Mrs. Green, charter members, brought in a big birthday cake, iced in white and gold with golden candles. Miss Tinline put in the knife and the cake was enjoyed. It was an afternoon of memories, of achievements, and of tribute paid to the early members of this splendid organization.

BLOOMINGTON WILLIAM STORRY WEDS M. FRENCH

Miss Marjorie Louise, eldest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. C. French was united in marriage to Mr. William Donald Storry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Storry, Bloomington, at 7 p.m. last Thursday, at Wesley United church, Toronto.

The bride's father officiated. Mr. Edgar Goodaire played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mr. B. Birmingham sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Roy C. French, was charming in a long princess gown of white satin and lace with train. Her tulle veil was held in place by a Juliet cap and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of roses with trails of lily of the valley. Mrs. Roy C. French was matron of honor and was attired in pink point d'esprit with face veil.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Storry, sister of the groom, and Miss Stella French, sister of the bride, were gowned alike in pale blue point d'esprit with matching veils with bands of flowers and carried colonial nosegays of roses and forget-me-nots. They wore the gifts of the groom, white gold lockets.

The little flower girl, Carol French, niece of the bride, was daintily frocked in a long frilled pink taffeta dress with matching flowers in her hair and carried a basket of roses.

Wm. French, brother of the bride, was best man, while the ushers were Dougald French and Wm. Russell.

A reception was held following at the Old Mill where the bride's mother received wearing a black and white sheer dress with white picture hat and corsage of roses, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a blue gown over pink satin with large matching hat and wearing corsage bouquet of roses and forget-me-nots.

The couple then left by motor on a honeymoon trip to the Rockies. For travelling the bride wore a parlour and beige suit with green accessories and a fox fur, the gift of the groom. Miss Edna Hill of Aurora was home for the weekend.

Bruce Barnes and Ernie Davis are at North Bay on a wiring job.

Miss Audrey Smith was on a two-day trip to North Bay and Callander last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Leask and family of Greenbank were Sunday visitors at Wm. Fockler's.

Ballantrae Women's Association entertained the W.A. from here on Monday evening. Lennoxville W.A. was also present and each visiting branch put on several numbers after which Ballantrae served a lovely supper.

Cedar Brae

Quite a number from here attended the warden's picnic at Port Dalhousie last week.

Mrs. Walter Sedore is in the Toronto General hospital where she is taking treatments.

Mr. Charlie Milstead of Queensville visited his sisters here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Welch called on Mr. Welch's nephew, Mr. Percy Welch, on Sunday.

Era printing is high-quality and low-cost.

THE OSTREKOFF JEWELS

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

A GREAT NOVEL OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE

SYNOPSIS

Wilfred Haven, attache of the American Embassy in Petrograd, leaves the Russian capital during the 1917 upheaval, carrying a fortune in jewels. The jewels have been entrusted to him for delivery in London to Princess Elisa-veta Ostrekoff as her inheritance from Prince and Princess Ostre-koff, who are under sentence of death.

About to leave Petrograd, Haven rescues Anna Kastellane from a fate worse than death at the hands of a Bolshevik mob.
They reach Warsaw, narrowly escaping death at the hands of Russian agents. There they outwit Polish officials, who endeavor to obtain possession of the jewels.
Anna manages to engage a plane and they find themselves in the hands of two Polish army officers, who plan to drop them at widely separated places after obtaining the jewels. Haven obtains all the revolvers on the plane and orders it landed in Odessa.

CHAPTER 17 CONTINUED

"Your mechanic and pilot are loading up now," he told her. "It is permitted to ask your destination."

"Northward," she answered with a smile.

She drove on to the inner incusion. Here again a guard was stationed, but again her note won her prompt admission. She paid off the chauffeur and hurried to the hangar into which the plane had been wheeled. Haven and the pilot, with their coats off, were storing away petrol and oil. There was a hint of unconscious triumph in her tone as she showed the former the magic slip of paper.

"We are at liberty to remain here, to buy oil and petrol at government prices, and to depart when it pleases us," she pointed out with satisfaction.

"There was a flash in Haven's eyes.

"Listen," he begged. "We have enough fuel in stock now to take us half over Europe. You are not thinking of waiting for those two?"

She laughed derisively.

"Wait for our executioners!" she exclaimed. "Why should we? How soon can we start?" she added, turning to the pilot.

He looked at her blankly. An hour or two at a cafe in Odessa and a sound sleep were very much in his mind.

"The master said nothing about leaving today," was his stolid reply.
"It is not possible. The engine needs attention. There are adjuments to be made."

"Neither Captain Esterhazy nor Colonel Patinsky are returning with us," she announced. "Mr.
Haven and I wish to leave at once."

The man shook his head angrily.
"You are passengers, you two," he declared. "Captain Esterhazy is my master. I shall not move without his authority. We shall stay here for the night. It is necessary."

He felt an iron grip upon his arm. Haven led him into the furthest corner of the hangar and then released him. Slowly he opened his pocketbook and brought out a pile of notes. The man, who had opened his mouth to protest, was suddenly dumb. He loved money, beer and women, but he loved money best of the three,
and there was more there than he had ever seen in his life.

"Listen," Haven confided, "I have taken over the plane. You are my pilot now. I am going to pay you bigger wages than you have ever had in your life before, and when you land us safely where I shall direct you to land us, I shall give you enough money to live on for the rest of your life. Don't worry any more about such inferior people as Esterhazy. You're going to be rich. You could open a garage, if you cared to, or fly your own machine."

"But I cannot fly long distances without an observer," the man gasped.

"I will be your observer," Haven told him.

"You! What do you know about it?" the man demanded incredulously.

"I have done some flying," Haven assured him. "I am going to join the American air force when we get out of this."

The man was a Lithuanian, and he only half understood. Haven turned to Anna.

"Look here," he said eagerly, "he doesn't want to start without an observer. Here's my certificate, signed by the military. I'm a certified pilot and can drive this plane myself if necessary."

"If this fool's going to be obstinate, I shall start off without him—if you'll trust me. See if you can't make him understand.
We want to leave this moment. I'll make him independent of Esterhazy all his life. I'll give him $50,000 for the trip as soon as we get to a friendly or a neutral bank if he'll start at once. Make him understand that I can read the chart and drive the plane myself if necessary."

"You are rather a wonderful person, are you not?" she exclaimed, looking at him with a very much softer light in her eyes. "Give me some of that money. He has never taken his eyes off it. I expect he would like some on account."

Haven thrust the packet into her hand. She talked rapidly and earnestly to the pilot and handed him a thick wad of the notes, which he almost snatched from her fingers. Then without a word he picked up his coat and cap, called out a warning to the helpers and clambered up into his place.
Haven distributed some of the smaller notes to the men who were standing around and followed Anna. They found Olav in the saloon, staring at them in surprise.

"We are starting at once," Anna announced.

"We cannot start without Captain Esterhazy," the man objected sullenly.

"Get that out of your head," Haven enjoined, blocking the passage. "You leave Leon alone. Here's a thousand kronen. Put them into your pocket. There'll be plenty more to come if you behave yourself and obey orders. If you kick up a fuss, you'll get thrown out. I'm in command now.
Understand that."

"But what will they do—the others?" the man demanded, stupefied. "We cannot leave them behind."

"We can and we're going to and that's all there is to it," Haven assured him as the engine began to roar. "Get back into the pantry, Olav, and look after things. We'll need some food presently."

The man was only half listening.
As he walked away his eyes were fixed on the thousand-kronen note in dazed fashion. Suddenly there was a bump and a jerk forward.
From every corner of the huge inclosure people came running to watch the ascent. One more bump and then a sensation of velvety smoothness. They were off the ground, mounting rapidly. They were higher now than the houses and still gliding upward. Leon, who was really a very fine pilot, took a long graceful sweep and glanced at the compass. Haven called up to him through the loud speaker:

"Do you want me, Leon?"

"Not yet, master," was the guttural reply.

Olav, with the thousand-kronen note safely tucked away between his sock and the sole of his boot, was preparing the table for luncheon. Haven suddenly realized that Anna Kastellane was human. There were tears in her eyes, the proud mouth had softened.

"You are a very wonderful man," she confessed, looking up at him.

"What about you?" he rejoined, tossing a roll into the air and catching it.

"Who's got the governor's pass, I'd like to know. We'd never have been able to leave without that. We're all wonderful, including Olav!" he exclaimed exultantly, patting the steward on the shoulder. "Do you know this fellow has stocked up even in this short time. Here we have fresh rolls, and I swear I saw a ham."

She smiled triumphantly.

"I told him out," she confided.
"I told him the master might want to start any moment. What I didn't tell him, though, was—which master!"

The airplane had become a small speck in the heavens when a large gray touring car to which all the sentries presented arms was driven without hindrance into the enclosure.

Patinsky, side by side with a much decorated officer, occupied the front seat and Esterhazy with an A. D. C. was behind.

"We arrive," the latter pointed out to his companion, "but I see no airplane."

Patinsky stared at the empty hangar with uncomprehending eyes. Esterhazy gave an angry shout. The loiterers who were suspecting something dramatic from the unexpected departure of the plane, came hurrying forward.
The officer by Patinsky's side called to a sergeant in uniform.

"Sergeant," he asked, "where is the plane that arrived from Warsaw this morning?"

The man pointed to the skies.
"It left 20 minutes ago, sir," he reported.

"But it was my plane," Esterhazy shouted, fuming with rage.
"It has been stolen," Patinsky cried. "Who dared to take it away?"

"There was a young lady, sir," the man announced. "A very large young man with a satchel looked to his arm all the time he was working, the pilot and steward."

The shouted questions of Esterhazy and Patinsky were utterly incomprehensible. The officer stood up in the car and waved them to silence.

"Sergeant," he said severely,
"will you explain how it was that you permitted a plane which had once descended here to leave without permission?"

The sergeant drew himself up.
"The young lady was carrying the governor's pass to leave when she chose," he replied. "It was stamped at government house this morning and properly signed."

The officer looked coldly at his companion. He rather resented having been dragged down from a busy morning at the barracks on a fool's errand.

"You hear, gentlemen?" he remarked, with a shrug of the shoulders.

But neither Patinsky of the Polish cavalry nor Nicholas Esterhazy heard anything. Their eyes were turned skyward to where a small black speck was disappearing in the distance and their eyes were full of hate.

YOUNG CHIPS IS INSULTED

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"It's Sunday afternoon, and I propose that we go for a stroll," suggested Young Chips to his wife, Merry.

"All right," she answered.
"Come on, children. We're going for a little Sunday afternoon outing. The change will be good for us."

"What about going down Fairly Lake way," Young Chips said. "It's quite pretty down there. Mercy, look at all the Starlings in that field. We'll go around the edge and avoid them."

"Why, just listen to that song!"
exclaimed Merry, a little later, as the birds were passing near a garden in which were a few fruit trees. "Who in the world is it? That sounded like an Oriole's song then, and that bit is like the Wood Pewee's. Oh, listen to that discord now, in the midst of all those lovely notes."

"It must be a Brown Thrasher," decided Young Chips. "Stand back, children, until I make sure." He darted into the thicket from which the melody of song had been coming and a large bird flew out and went over to the nearby cherry tree.

"Why, that bird wasn't reddish brown like a Thrasher," said Merry. "It seemed to be all gray."

"Really?" asked Young Chips.
"Now it was a Catbird. And now it's going to enjoy a few cherries for lunch. I had forgotten that the Catbirds belonged to the Mockingbird family, too.

They don't sing as beautifully as the Thrashers, though, do they,
Merry? They hit a discordant note every once in a while."

"Well, I know that you don't like the Catbirds," said Merry.
"although I rather admire them, except when they 'Meow'." I believe that the Brown Thrashers are usually regarded as among the very best songsters in Canada, however."

Just then the Catbird started its raucous meowing and the Chickadee children were a bit alarmed. So the whole family moved on their way.

"Well, here we are at the bridge," announced Young Chips at last. "Do you see all the people out for a Sunday walk, children?"

"Yes, but I see something else," answered Jimmy. "It's a great big huge bird in that field, right beside the road. Look at the funny way it walks, with its neck stretched out like that. It looks uncomfortable."

"For goodness sake!" exclaimed Young Chips. "It's an American Bittern. I thought we might see one of them farther up in the marsh, but I certainly didn't expect to see one almost on the street like that. Come on, we'll speak to him. Don't be afraid children. He's perfectly harmless."

"Why, Chips, don't let the children go over there," shrieked Merry emphatically. "I've heard that the Bitterns eat young birds sometimes. I'm surprised at you suggesting such a thing as taking them over there. Come on children, we'll go over this way and wait, while your father speaks to the Bittern, if he must."

"I'm sure there's no danger," replied Young Chips. "The Bitterns live mostly on frogs, crawfish, snakes and tiny fish,
and perhaps the occasional mouse."

"If he ever eats mice, I'll bet he also eats the occasional young bird," maintained Merry. "We're staying right here."

"I'd certainly like the youngsters to have the experience of hearing that queer pumping noise that the Bittern makes," insisted Young Chips. "It's most unusual."

"We can hear it very nicely from here," their mother replied firmly. "You go on and we'll wait for you."

The Bittern was walking slowly away from the road into the reeds, as Young Chips caught up to him.

"You certainly seem to like people," Young Chips said to the big yellowish brown bird that resembled a Heron, but was not so graceful.

"Oh, I don't mind them," he replied stiffly. "If I get alarmed I just stuff right up like a stick and everybody thinks I am one."

"That's what you think!" said Young Chips. "I'll bet you don't fool everybody like you think you do."

"Tut, tut, don't be ridiculous, young fellow," said the Bittern.
"Don't try to tell me anything about myself. You'd better get back to your mother and father."

"Well, of all things," spluttered law, who was spending a week

"Because you have been such a good cook," replied the boss, with a smile.

"Oh!" replied the cook thoughtfully. "Then you have been swindling me for years, eh?"

Mount Albert

The Junior Farmers clubs and Junior Institutes of Belhaven, Poplar Bank and Mount Albert are holding a picnic at Jackson's Point on Tuesday, June 28.

Two groups of the Woman's Association of the United Church are holding a strawberry supper on the church lawn on Wednesday, June 29, to which all are invited.

Mrs. Tilley of Belleville is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. Jos. Tilley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Harmon of Parry Sound were in town over the weekend and Miss Bertha Harmon returned home with them to spend a week's holiday.

Mrs. Woods of Toronto is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Thompson.

Mr. Oscar Robertson has so improved in health that he has returned home from the sanitarium at Gravenhurst, where he has spent the last year and a half.

Miss Muriel Ross of Toronto and Miss McNab of Hamilton were at the home of Mrs. H. Ross over the weekend.

Miss Isabel Carruthers, R.N., of Cincinnati, U.S.A., has been a visitor at the home of her brother, Dr. W. L. Carruthers.

CHRISTADELPHANS

L.O.O.F. hall, Mount Albert Sunday, June 26, 7:30 P. M., S. T. Bible address—Russia and Britain in prophecy. Britain's work in connection with God's people and land.

Russia, the divinely appointed head of a great confederacy of nations. Her final overthrow in the coming battle of God Almighty. Bring your Bibles. No Collection.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Frank Sisler was held on Monday from her home near Allandale to Mount Albert cemetery. Mrs. Sisler was a former resident of this community, being a daughter of the late Wm. Law who at one time lived on the farm now occupied by Frank Case.

Mrs. Quibell, Sr., has been visiting relatives at Cherrywood and also at Kingston.

Mrs. W. R. Steeper attended district Institute annual meetings last week at Markham, Altona and Zephyr, as provincial board member of the F.W.I.O. for sub-division number six which is York and Ontario counties.

The Feasby family are holding their annual picnic at the home of Mr. Geo. Feasby in the village on Friday, July 1.

The park is a place for young and old to go and enjoy themselves and the board have spent a considerable amount of money to get things to make it so and now all they ask is that people will take care of the property and not destroy it.

If some go there to destroy seats, etc., it is felt that something will have to be done to remind them they will have to stop this kind of rowdiness.

The annual horticultural picnic is to be held at Guelph this year on Wednesday, July 6, at the Agricultural college. A special invitation has come from Dr. Christie to all horticultural members and others interested to attend.

There are many special events arranged for and prizes given for both children and adults. Dinner is provided free of charge for all attending and it is hoped a large number from here will try to attend.

It is a splendid opportunity to see the college and the lovely grounds and flowers. There will be a horticultural society window display in R. Davis' store on Tuesday, June 28. Following is a list of exhibits: best red peony, best white peony, best pink peony, best collection of peonies, best spike of delphinium, best collection of delphiniums, best spike monkshood, best two sprays yellow lilies, best two sprays red lilies, best bowl of pansies, best dining-table bouquet, best arranged vase of mixed flowers, best three blooms snapdragon, best bowl of petunias, best red rose, best white rose, best pink rose and best bowl of roses.

QUEENSVILLE GIVE MEMENTOS TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Quartet makes Last Appearance The local Y.P.U. held their closing meeting last Sunday night, when several from King City provided the program. At the close, lunch was served, and a presentation was made of a gold collar and tie set for Ewart Madden and a compact for Evelyn Madden.

Rev. F. W. Madden delivered a very inspiring sermon on Sunday on "Faith." The male quartet made their final appearance, when they sang two negro spirituals, "Goin' Home" and "Steal Away." The departure of Ewart Madden, first bass, makes it necessary for a split up in the quartet until another suitable singer can be secured.

New President Takes Charge The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Milne on Wednesday, June 29. The new president, Mrs. Sydney Thompson, will be in charge of the meeting. The program is as follows: An address on "Peace" by Mrs. Jack Baines of Elmhurst Beach Institute; a report of the district annual convention; several five minute papers; a contest by Mrs. J. L. Smith, for which a prize will be given. The refreshment committee is Mrs. Fred Weddell, Mrs. Wilbert Dew and Mrs. James Linskill.

Mrs. William Belfry of Churchill is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. Joe Durham, known by his several appearances as a cowboy singer at concerts, Wednesday was singing "I'm a Daddy Today!" Mrs. Durham presented him with a bouncing baby boy early Wednesday morning. Congratulations are offered the happy couple.

Best wishes for their happiness are extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Neill, who returned home from their honeymoon on Tuesday. Mrs. O'Neill before her marriage, was a Miss Diltz of Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bradenburg of Detroit spent last weekend at the Burkholder home.

Miss Elsie Huntley, who is a patient at Gravenhurst sanitarium, is getting along nicely.

QUEENSVILLE FIELDER'S CATCH IS SENSATIONAL Willow Beach park was the scene of one of the best games played so far in the Lake Simcoe Softball League, when Baldwin visited the local team on Monday night.

A real pitching duel took place between Harvey Anderson and Cec. McNeil, and each pitcher had 10 strike-outs to his credit and from the first inning until the last man was out, it was always in doubt which team would be the winner. A home run from the bat of "Carp" Fairbairn of Willow Beach was the hitting feature of the game, and a long running catch of a fly ball in left field by Crawford of Baldwin to retire the side with two Willow Beach men on the runway, was a highlight in the fielding. The umpires were the McLeod Brothers of Queensville.

The Ladies' Aid is holding a garden party on the church lawn on Wednesday, June 28. In the evening the young people will present their play "Farm Folks." Everyone is welcome and this promises to be a very pleasant evening.

The W.M.S. will hold their monthly meeting on Wednesday, June 29, at the church at 3 p.m. All members are asked to be present.

Sunday night will be the closing meeting of the Y.P.U. for the summer months. Miss Margaret Fockler of Keswick will give the address.

Mr. Ernie Glover has returned to Toronto after spending some time at the home of his brother here.

Mrs. Binstead and daughter, Anne, of Toronto, are visiting at the Nighswander home.

Miss Jean Mahoney is visiting at her home here.

Mrs. Bruce Corner and children of Pefferlaw spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wight.

Mrs. Young of Newmarket is visiting her son, Mr. Percy Pollock.

There will be no Sunday afternoon service here on Sunday owing to the decoration service at Queensville cemetery.

Mrs. Will Pollock is slowly convalescing after her fall. Friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Mackie of Richmond Hill is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. Rose.

Mrs. B. Rutledge, Toronto, spent Sunday at Mr. W. McClure's. Many from here attended the Newmarket decoration services on Sunday.

Mrs. Bruce Widdifield and baby, Mary, Mount Albert, are the guests of her parents during the week.

Sunday guests and callers during the weekend at the Smith farm were Mr. and Mrs. A. Georgas, accompanied by Margaret and Aubrey Smith, Newmarket; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and daughters, Newmarket; Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Holland Landing and Miss Lillian and Lovell Connell.

Mrs. W. Sanderson and Mr. and Mrs. Sim Graves motored to Detroit to visit Mrs. Sanderson's son, Melville, over the weekend. Mr. Jim Peters spent Friday and Saturday among his relatives here.

Mr. Stan Armstrong took the school children to Island Grove on Saturday afternoon, where a number of schools had their picnics. Miss Atkinson and her pupils attended the exhibition at Queensville church on Monday afternoon. Everyone is asked to keep the garden party date in mind. There will be a program and a play given by the young folks.

June 16.—The Ladies' Aid, held at Mrs. Walter Rose's home was a great success. Over $16 was realized. Another Aid will be held in the church soon.

Mrs. Graham has been confined to her bed for the past two weeks but is slowly improving.

The children were pleased over their recent two days holiday when their teachers attended the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Railton and daughter of Sutton West, Mr. and Mrs. Cowieson of Queensville, also son, John, and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Gordon of Keswick were visiting at Mr. John Gordon's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown of Toronto spent Sunday with her brother, H. Prosser.

The community was sorry to hear of the sudden illness of Mrs. Will Pollock and everyone hopes she will soon be around again.

The farmers are very busy hoeing and clover cutting. The Holborn picnic was held last Saturday and all enjoyed a good time.

It is hoped that Mrs. Frank Marritt of Keswick will be able to return to her home soon. She will be greatly missed.

Belhaven

The Belhaven Union Sunday-school will be closed next Sunday, owing to decoration day being held in the Queensville cemetery. The Sunday-school will also be closed for the following two months.

Mrs. Erwin Winch, Mrs. Harry Horner, Mrs. C. Marritt and Mrs. Wm. Winch, attended the district annual of the W.I. held in Newmarket in the Friends church on June 10.

Last Tuesday the Women's Institute met in the community hall, with Dr. Caldwell of the Canadian Red Cross Society as speaker. After the meeting a social hour was very much enjoyed by all. The hostesses served a very bountiful lunch.

The new 1938-39 W. I. programs were distributed at the meeting. The new programs, printed by The Newmarket Era, were very satisfactory to the members.

Mrs. Thomas Horner is not enjoying the best of health. An improvement is hoped for soon.

Summer is here, with warm weather, and bird song, a great variety filling the air with their melody.

KESWICK HOLD SERVICE ON CHILDREN'S DAY

Will the members of the newly organized "Lakeside" Institute take note of the June meeting to be held on June 30 (instead of June 29) at the home of the new president, Mrs. Wm. Davison, Keswick.

Keswick Christian Sunday-school held a very lovely Children's Day service on Sunday morning, when the children took the principal part of the service and composed the choir, along with some of the senior classes.

Rev. Mr. Serriek gave a splendidly interesting talk to the children on "Consider the Lily."

Assisting with the music were Mrs. E. Sinclair at the piano and Miss B. Terry, violinist.

The Christian Sunday-school is holding its annual picnic at Mr. and Mrs. E. Yeats' home, Orchard Beach, on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. C. E. Fockler was present at both services at the United church on Sunday. In the morning, Mrs. W. E. Morton sang a very lovely solo. Mr. Fockler's fine sermon, taken from the text "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's," was in perfect harmony with the several very well-known hymns in which the congregation, led by the choir, joined heartily.

The subject of Mr. Fockler's evening address was "God's Carpenter."

On Sunday next, Rev. Mr. Halbert of Newtonbrook, will be guest preacher at both services.

The Sunday-school institute is to meet at Aurora on Friday evening, June 24, at 8:30 p.m., D.S.T., when all teachers and those interested in Sunday-school work are invited to attend.

Anyone desiring information about the Young People's camp to be held at Sibbald's Point, may secure the same from Rev. C. E. Fockler, Keswick.

Nineteen members of the mission band took advantage of Mrs. Retter's kind invitation and were entertained by Mrs. Retter, who is mission band superintendent and by Mrs. Alvin Rye, her assistant at a very delightful party on Saturday.

The young people had both water and land games arranged for their pleasure, which was followed by the serving of a delicious lunch. Mite boxes were accepted. It is planned to hold a baking sale later in the season under the joint auspices of the C.G.I.T. and the mission band.

Guests at "Two Pines Farm," Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson's home, on Sunday last, were Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Dixon of Bond Head with their families.

Mrs. Robert Arthur, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, left this week for her home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch McKinnon's two small daughters had tonsil operations last Saturday from which they have recovered splendidly.

Several of the young people have been quite ill during the past couple of weeks, some of them being Misses Helen Hamilton Joan Peel and Billy English.

On Sunday next, Rev. Mr. Halbert of Newtonbrook, will be guest preacher at both services.
